

Satisfied customers are important to us. But the students and teachers who benefit from our solutions are even more important! Read below to hear what Johan Vanhoyland, director of school Basisschool De Startbaan had to say about the school's recent technology and furniture update.

"As Director of the Basisschool De Startbaan I believe our educational visions are very similar to other schools. We want our students to succeed, so we try to meet all of their individual needs. Therefore we utilize every opportunity we get to purchase new textbooks and furniture. Interactive boards and Opti+ furniture go hand in hand with our educational vision. The brand new equipment is interesting for both student and teacher. I think it is important for a school to keep up with the technologies of tomorrow if we really want to prepare our students for a 21st century workforce. In terms of school furniture and textbooks, we will not hesitate to implement something new. "

"The ergonomic nature of the furniture is a distinctive feature. This significantly increases the comfort level of our students which helps them stay attentive. I've tested the seats myself and believe me, they're really nice. The footrest adjusts easily to fit the various heights of the students, making the investment well worth it."

"I love how the Opti+ looks," said the director Vanhoyland.

"It's nice that students can really interact with the tables and chairs, the increased flexibility really differentiates our school. Now we all have separate tables and personal workspaces. I find it interesting that the classrooms can reconfigure from an individualized work setting into group work without losing much time at all. Since there are wheels underneath, the students can quickly move the desks themselves to create different arrangements. Opti+ creates many possibilities."

Our school has been in operation for three years now, when we opened community members, students and teachers were all pleasantly surprised with the technology upgrades and unique furniture solutions, the only responses we have received over the years are positive ones!
